

House and Senate Agriculture Appropriations Funding Levels for FY 2019

The agriculture appropriations bill is one of 12 appropriations (spending) bills that Congress must pass by September 30 of each fiscal year to keep government programs funded. The House Committee on Appropriations approved its Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 Agriculture Appropriations Bill on May 16, 2018, while the Senate Committee on Appropriations approved its FY 2019 Agriculture Appropriations Bill on May 24, 2018. Similarities and differences are outlined in the table below.

Program(s)/Topics	House Spending Bill (H.R. 5961)	Senate Spending Bill (S. 2976)	Comparison to FY 2018 Appropriations Levels
Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)	$73.2 billion in mandatory spending, including $3 billion to be placed in a reserve fund to cover any unexpected participation increases.	$73.2 billion in mandatory spending, including $3 billion to be placed in a reserve fund to cover any unexpected participation increases.	This is $794 million below the FY 2018 level. The decrease in funding is due to declining enrollment.
Child Nutrition programs, mandatory funding	$23.2 billion in mandatory funding, including $519 million for Summer Food Programs	$23.2 billion in mandatory funding, including $519 million for Summer Food programs	This is $1.1 billion below the FY 2018 enacted level due to large carryover balances in the program.
Child nutrition programs, discretionary* funding	$30 million for school meals equipment grants and $28 million for the Summer Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) for Children Demonstration	$30 million for school meal equipment grants and $28 million for Summer EBT Demonstration	Consistent with FY 2018 Appropriations
Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC)	$6 billion in discretionary funding, including $60 million for breastfeeding peer counselors and $14 million for infrastructure. The House bill rescinds $300 million of unobligated funding for WIC.	$6.15 billion in discretionary funding, including $60 million for breastfeeding support initiatives, $19 million for infrastructure, and $5 million for competitive grants to promote breastfeeding and improved nutritional health through technologies and services, including telemedicine. The Senate bill rescinds $400 million of unobligated funding for WIC.	In FY 2018, $6.175 billion was appropriated for WIC. Although the funding levels in both chambers are below FY 2018 levels, they are expected to support anticipated WIC caseloads.
